Title: The Epic Side Of Metal

Artist: VARIOUS

Hörprobe: <https://bit.ly/3gcLq4l>

Heroic and storytelling, heavy but still playful and sophisticatedly structured, that's how you can describe Epic Metal. This style often expresses itself in songs that crack the usual four or five minutes playing time. Its definition has changed within the last few years and is often used for groups that are more in line with Symphonic Metal, and often „female fronted“. But, dyed-in-the-wool fans from the very start disagree with this change of definition.

This compilation contains the original style of epic heavy metal and shows that it is more single tracks that meet the definition of this term and that there are only very few bands that play this style exclusively.

At a first glance some names might surprise you, but also acts like Griffin, Jaguar or Witchfynde had their epic moments. The seventies heroes Wishbone Ash also fit in, as they actually acted as pioneers. The fact that Manilla Road introduces and finishes this CD is simply as we are talking about a compilation dedicated to Epic Metal! Included forgotten pearls are the tracks by Viron and Economist, as well as the heroic „Dust In The Wind“ by the band Sudden Death from Berlin and the elaborately structured „Control The World“ by Tempest, the eternal insider tip of the German metal underground. „The Epic Side Of Metal“ shows that Epic Metal has nothing to do with bombast and pompous melodies, but is often „that one song“ from one band on 79 minutes. The booklet includes interesting liner notes with info and pictures of each band.

Title: AscensionArtist: BLACK ART JAZZ COLLECTIVE

The Black Art Jazz Collective was founded in 2012 by Wayne Escoffery and Jeremy Pelt with the aim of honoring and preserving the art of some of the progenitors of jazz who inspired them, hired them and mentored them first hand. And while the band does pay homage to the greats of the past they also continue the evolving tradition of jazz with a body of work that shows their awareness of the past while remaining firmly entrenched in the modernism of today. From the angular melody of Escoffery's "Involuntary Servitude," to the ingratiating groove of Pelt's "For the Kids," the ensemble extends the range and potential established by their illustrious predecessors with innovative original compositions, solos that run the gamut from thoughtful to virtuosic and a shared sense of purpose that is unique on today's jazz landscape.

Title: RebirthArtist: RAY MANTILLA

Ray Mantilla was one of the true conga giants during the 1950s, 60s and 70s recording hundreds of album sessions and pioneering the use of unique combinations of latin percussion instruments. Among his most famous collaborations were with Charles Mingus, Herbie Mann and Max Roach. In 1977, Mantilla was selected by the great jazz ambassador Dizzy Gillespie to accompany him to Cuba as the first US band to visit the island since the travel embargo of 1962. Their joint concerts with Cuba's indigenous bands made musical and political history. For Rebirth, Mantilla surrounded himself with his long-time colleagues Edy Martinez, Ivan Renta, Guido Gonzalez, Diego Lopez and others, once again proving that the music he made came from his heart as well as from his lifetime of experience. Ray Mantilla was very insistent on titling this recording Rebirth. After a long illness the irrepressible Ray Mantilla passed away a few short months after completing the sessions for this CD. The music contained here is a fitting tribute to the man and the musician beloved by so many.
